

EVE OF IMPORTANT BATTLE IN MEXICO

REBELS REPULSED IN INITIAL SKIRMISHES BEFORE SERIOUS CONFLICT TOMORROW.

FEDERALS AT TORREON

General Huerta Sends Message to Associated Press in Regard to Conditions From Cox-car Telegraph Office.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] El Paso, Texas, May 10.—The Mexican federal army has repulsed the rebel advance guard of General Orozco and sharp skirmishes are now in progress preliminary to what is expected tomorrow to be the most decisive battle of the revolution. Nearly 15,000 men are engaged on both sides and the objective point of the rebels is Torreon, the railway gateway of northern Mexico. The federal army is protecting the city from all sides.

The government claims it drew first blood yesterday, killing ninety insurgents and losing but three men, while from several wounded. In a telegraph office improvised in a box car on a desert fifty miles south of Torreon, General Victoriano Huerta, commander of the federal army of northern Mexico, transmitted by telegraph to the Associated Press representative here a report of military developments in the last twenty-four hours. The box car stood a few miles from the town of Barmille.

The rebels had been sent directly to the federal camp, being routed from El Paso via Laredo, Texas, Monterey and Torreon in a roundabout circuit eastward of more than one thousand miles. This was made necessary by the seizure of all telegraph lines directly south of here by the rebels.

When the improved telegraph line was arranged General Huerta hailed enthusiastically the battle to come. "Yesterday, Thursday, Gen. Huerta completely routed one thousand rebels at Zarzamora and Toluca, both near Torreon," said General Huerta. "The rebels lost ninety dead and many wounded while our loss was seven dead and few wounded."

"The rebels were driven back in hasty flight pursued by cavalry under General Villa. On Wednesday we heard that a detachment of one thousand rebels were advancing on us and we organized a column and went by railway under General Rabago to cut off retreat. We sent overland volunteers and regular cavalry from the force of Villa."

"They arrived about six o'clock Thursday morning and immediately attacked the rebels. The fight became more intense and General Rabago arrived and flanked the rebels. He had with him artillery and machine guns. The fight lasted six hours. We completely routed the enemy. Our loss was seven wounded and two killed."

Communication was interrupted for a few minutes, then continued: "Telegram has just been brought from General Tracy Aubert to me at General Huerta, Salazar was completely routed and is fleeing in the direction of El Paso." "Couriers from the advance guard arrived at this juncture and informed me that held outposts were in possession of the Mexican Central

METHODISTS EXPECT TO DECIDE LEADING MATTERS AT ISSUE

Fate of Amusement Clause and Controversy Over Appointments Will Be Settled Late Today.

ENGLISH INQUIRY HAS FOUND OUT NEW FACTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, Eng., May 10.—The board of trade inquiry into the "Titanic" disaster was resumed today. Corroboration was given today in the evidence of Thomas Dillon of the engineers' staff that the water tight doors were opened by orders of the engineer.

Scott who was on duty in the turbine engine room, on the night of the disaster said that at a quarter to one he was ordered to open the water tight doors from the engine room through to the stern compartment to enable the water tight doors to get at the pumps. At first he opened the doors only about a fourth then the engineer having telephoned to the bridge, they threw the door wide open.

Lord Mersey remarked, "This taken in conjunction with Thomas Dillon's evidence would show that the doors were opened from the forward boiler room to the stern compartment."

The attorney representing the White Star company interposed saying that evidence would be called to show that when the water reached a certain height the water tight doors would close automatically.

According to Scott it had been definitely ascertained the lights reported to have been seen by some of the persons on the life boats were those of other lifeboats.

Similarly he said, steel beams sold in December, 1901, at $30.50 a ton; in October, 1901, at $34.75; in September, 1902, at $35.75; in January, 1902, at $35.75; and in October, 1902, at $46.50. Steel rails he said in November, 1901, were $18.50 a ton; in November, 1901, $35.00; in September, 1902, $26.00; in December, 1901, $28.00, since which date they have not varied.

ROOSEVELT IS SURE THAT PEOPLE FAVOR HIM AS CANDIDATE

In Letter to Minnesota Manager Colonel Points to Primary Results as Indication of His Hold on Public.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, May 10.—The Roosevelt committee today gave out a copy of a letter from Colonel Roosevelt to R. A. Cawwell of Minneapolis, chairman of the Roosevelt committee, and clerk of the supreme court of Minnesota, in which he says it will be impossible for him to go to Minnesota before the primaries.

Colonel Roosevelt mentions the number of states which have held presidential primaries and will be represented by two hundred and fifty-six delegates in the Chicago convention. Of this number forty are instructed for Taft and two hundred and sixteen for Roosevelt. Continuing the letter says in part:

"If primaries could be held in all the states there undoubtedly would be no substantial variation from these figures and Mr. Taft could by no possibility have two hundred votes in the Chicago convention. Mr. Taft's chance of renomination lies solely in securing at the Chicago convention delegates who will misrepresent the people. He can get these delegates not in the primary states but in the convention states where delegates are chosen under the old system, and even in these states he can only get them when the state is ruled by a boss."

"Practically all of the big bosses in the republican party dislike me so heartily that they opposed Mr. Taft's nomination because I favored it. They are afraid Mr. Taft would give them the same kind of trouble I had given them. After three years and a half experience of Mr. Taft, whom he has been elected, those same men have turned around again and are heartily in favor of his renomination."

"They were opposed to me four years ago and they are opposed to me now. They were opposed to Mr. Taft four years when they had not tried him as president and they heartily support him now. These men include, for instance, Mr. Gallagher of New Hampshire, Mr. Aldrich of Rhode Island, Mr. Penrose of Pennsylvania, Mr. Keating of Indiana, Mr. Lorimer of Illinois, Messrs. Guggenheim and Brown of Colorado, Mr. Cushman of the Southern Pacific railway, and in California, and the Associated Copper crowd in Montana. In your own state they include Messrs. Smith and Tawney."

"The fight is a nationwide fight of the plain people against the bosses. There is just one whom it is possible to nominate against the bosses and that is myself. Every vote for other candidates from now on is in reality a vote for Mr. Taft."

ROOSEVELT LEADERS PLANNING FOR COUP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco, May 10.—The failure of the Taft delegates in California to sign the preference and delegate pledge provides a complex situation. Roosevelt supporters have already planned to contest the delegates should they be elected. Both sides are agreed that the Taft delegates have a legal right to omit signing the pledges, inasmuch as both pledges under the law are optional. Roosevelt leaders declare the purpose of the action was to save struggling votes for Taft in the event that Roosevelt carried the majority of the districts.

ARE TO STICK TIGHT TO THE VERY FINISH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] La Crosse, May 10.—An answer to the impression that the La Follette delegates may break away from the Wisconsin candidate at an early stage of the contest in the Chicago convention, a meeting of the Wisconsin delegation is being arranged to be held at Milwaukee or Chicago June 3 to bind the delegates from this state to La Follette absolutely on every ballot. Local republican leaders say today that they had been notified of the proposed meeting.

FLOOD WATERS RUSH THROUGH NEW GAPS MENACING HUNDREDS

Conditions in Vicinity of New Roads, La., Rapidly Becoming Worse, Thousands are Fleeing.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New Roads, La., May 10.—Dawn today revealed a scene of panic in New Roads. Fears of flood water that crept up on the town from levees breaks north of here were heightened by the reports that nearby dikes were weakening. In the darkness there was no chance of escape, but at sunrise a general exodus of women and children began.

Flood waters from breaches in the Mississippi levee which already have carried misery and suffering to thousands of people of Louisiana, continued to creep southward today and now this town with its rich outlying country is threatened.

All people living in this territory have been warned to flee. Many, however, declare they will not abandon their homes. Consequently the government and state officials are preparing for a hard campaign of rescue work. Hundreds are being gathered here and crews being drilled.

It seems only a matter of a few hours before this entire territory will be inundated just as the country to the north has been. This means the state and government will have to care for thousands more homeless and that the people of Louisiana must bear great additional loss before the flood waters have been turned back.

Most of the flood water is coming from the great breaks in the levee at Torreon. This breach is three thousand feet wide. Water pours through it with the speed of a mill race.

This is the third consecutive calamity that the people of the Pointe Coupee country have been compelled to face. First came the boll weevil that destroyed the cotton crops. The people, disheartened, turned to planting cane. Then an early frost came last winter and destroyed thousands of tons of cane. Now the flood is spreading over the entire parish.

Crops cannot be replanted this year. Prior to this series of disasters Pointe Coupee, then under "intensive cultivation" produced sixty-four thousand bales of cotton, three million pounds of sugar cane, besides large crops of rice and truck.

A new menace loomed today when it was discovered that creatures of hundreds of animals are floating in the back water between New Roads and Torreon. They can neither be buried nor burned. The health authorities still feel they bring disease.

FEDERAL PRISON LEAGUE STARTS RACE FOR PENNANT

A regulation field has been laid out within the prison enclosure. A grandstand has been built for the accommodation of the prison officials, guards and their families. On the opposite side of the field are bleachers for the convict fans. The three teams have been practicing daily for several weeks and the members are reported as optimistic over the outlook for a close pennant race. A good attendance is expected for the early part of the season, but force of circumstances may cause it to diminish later. All prisoners have been given season tickets, entitling them to attend all games during good behavior.

SAYS ARCHBOLD KNEW BOND WAS OFFERED

Williams Testifies Before House Judiciary Committee That Judge Had Knowledge of Transaction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, May 10.—In the house committee on judiciary hearing of the charges against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commonwealth court today, Mr. Williams told Chairman Clayton that he offered to give bond to protect the Culp bank property against any claim and that Judge Archbald knew about it.

"We wanted to clear up the title," he said. He told the committee that Judge Archbald drew up the contract for the sale of the Culp property to the Laurel line. The witness said he thought that from the fact that Judge Archbald was a federal judge at the time and handled railroad litigation in his court, together with other circumstances, would have an influence in getting the option of the Culp property from the state.

When questioned about the deal he had entered on account of the investigation the witness said Judge Archbald told him it would be better not to try to sell the Culp property, that it would be worth more some other time.

THE EXAMPLE OF THE EARNING PARTNER IN THE FIRM OF MATRIMONY

BY J. R. HAMILTON.

Former Advertising Manager of Wanamaker's, Philadelphia.

You Men of America place in the hands of your Women a total of about fourteen or fifteen billions of dollars every year for the conduct of your families and your homes.

Most of you take but little account of that money. You spend less than ten per cent of it yourselves, and what you do spend is done carelessly, and carelessly in fact that you would be ashamed of the same methods in your business.

You either treat the finances of your home indulgently or bitterly. In few cases do you try to correct the error. If the same condition prevailed with the purchasing agent of your business, you would either train him or fire him.

Incidentally you are creating the greatest problem in American life today—the problem of financing the home.

The only example you set is a bad example. For when you do take the family out, you show them how a good, generous American spender should throw his money away. And when you take the time to buy your own apparel and other necessities, you do so with a carelessness and with such a disregard for comparative quality and price that even your children can recognize the fault.

You are like the head of a big institution who comes late and intoxicated to his office. The example alone is enough to upset the whole organization.

What's the answer? When you show as much interest in the finances of your home as you do in the finances of your office or your work, your money worries at home are going to cease.

When you learn to take the advertising columns of this paper the same as you take the stock reports or the business chances and buy your clothes as intelligently as you buy your tools, your stocks or your office supplies, then, and not till then, are you going to get your home expenses into shape.

When you learn how to buy shirts and shoes, your family will also learn.

Now here in this paper today is all the merchandise you need. Here you will find your price lists and your standards of quality. It is all advertised here—most of it in plain figures. Every one of these advertisers has something to say to you. Something important. His success depends upon the attention of your eyes. And if you only knew it, your success depends upon it, too.

Read every line of today's advertising carefully. Buy through it. Save through it and your purse will grow fat.

however, one hundred and fifty bibles will be distributed in the chambers of the Myers, Grand and Park hotels by a committee of the local and state officers. Funds were raised in the various churches of the city a number the books, and they have been received by George A. Jacobs who has had charge of the movement here.

Aside from the three o'clock devotional service at the Y. M. C. A., the services on Sunday will include a

The reassessment records which four weeks.

Mayor Fathers was in Madison yesterday on business before the Commis-

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but thoroughly cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion;
a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault.
Your stomach is as good as any.
Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months.
Don't forget the children—their little bodies need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

PROCLAMATION MADE BY MAYOR FATHERS FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Declares Sunday, May 12th, Shall Be Observed in This City in Honor of Mothers.

Mayor James A. Fathers issued his proclamation today declaring that this coming Sunday shall be observed in Janesville as "Mothers' Day." His proclamation is as follows:

PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR.

Sunday, May 12th has been designated as "Mothers' Day" and nationally the day will be quite generally observed.

The word mother awakens the tenderest sentiment of the human heart, and whether she be absent or whether she be present, she is still "mother," and the most loving and loyal of all friends.

"Mothers' Day" stands for love, unselfishness, honor, respect and our homes. I would recommend that the day be marked by special services throughout the city, and that we all pay particular "homage" to our aged parents to the end that all our duties of the day bear a special relation to the home and motherhood.

I invoke the co-operation of all in the observance of this day and as a mark of our zeal and fidelity let us wear a white carnation in honor of our mothers.

JAS. A. FATHERS,
Mayor.

Dated May 10, 1912.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS DAN Mc CARTHY

It's about time B. F. Mier, the oil millionaire who paid $25,000 in real money for the right to the services of Carl Morris, made up his mind that he was stung good and proper. Every body else has.

The Oklahoma giant is labeled now. He will be known for a long time to come as the greatest false alarm in the ring has ever known, not even having Ed. Dunkhorst and Con. O'Kelley. When Luther McCarthy, Billy Mc Carney's young gladiator from Lincoln, Neb., slipped the sleep producer over on Carl the other night, he put an effectual end to the biggest white hope agitation that has been since Johnson keeled Jim Jeffries over out there at Reno. The newspapers made Morris, but they couldn't hold him up. One thing they couldn't do was to teach him how to fight.

It was right after Jeff's defeat that big Carl, who was then working as a railroad fireman, decided he'd like to be a white hope. He weighed 337 when he made his debut with Tim Hurley in September, 1910. He was in earnest about it and worked hard to take off weight. He dieted and trained and burned up the road daily under a hot Oklahoma sun with an energy that brought him into public favor. You've got to give him credit for that. He has worked hard and he has tried. He beat a few dubs, then defeated Marvin Hart and Mike Schreck, both roundhouse punks who would have chopped the big fellow to pieces back in the days when they were real fighters. Then it was that Millionaire offer came to bat with his $25,000 offer. He thought it would be an honor to be manager of the world's champion. It would have been, all right, but after mused the mark this time by about a million miles. They took Carl to New York, where Joe Jeannette and Con. Hiley spent the most of the next summer trying to teach him something of the science of boxing. Then he met Jim Fynn, and Flynn walked him in the time, Carl rested a long time and got some more pointers. He tried out Tom Kennedy this time—another Gotham "hope"—and lost again. The Oklahoma bloomer came back somehow, though, and put the kibosh on Kennedy. In his last fight of any prominence, Jim Stewart trotted him decisively. Carl quit and said he was going back to the railroad job. When he got there the fight came looked easier, he thought, so he matched himself with a western unknown and won. Reassured, Carl next took on McCarthy and was knocked cold for the time.

He was terribly in earnest, was Morris, and was bound to succeed, but he wasn't born with the kind of a brain that makes a championship fighter.

Hank O'Day is being given credit for displaying considerable skill as a manager. He has the team, of course, but at the same time you've got to hand it to him for knowing something about the game. The years Hank put in unprying weren't wasted. He's an observing cuss, and for years he has been studying all the systems employed by the different managers. Being a man of intelligence, he has been able to select from each system what are, in his opinion, their best points. For all that, though, Hank was unfortunate in dropping in on a team which had been under a building up process for years, and which was just about completed when Griffith turned it over to him.

Hyatt, of West Point, ex pitcher, is to join Detroit after he leaves the academy.

the race who has not a national and in many cases an international reputation. The list in part shows: "Wild Hob" Burman, the speed king; Teddy Tetzlaff, winner of the Santa Monica race; Caleb Bragg, the millionaire who finished second at Santa Monica and who will team with Tetzlaff on the Fiat entry; Ralph De Palma, whose spectacular driving on mile tracks won him the name of mile track champion; Harvey Herriek, winner of the 1911 Santa Monica road race, and, until Tetzlaff won the last race, holder of the world's road race record, and Ralph Mulford winner of the 1911 Vanderbilt Cup race.

The others are just as notable for their records as those named above. There is Louis Dabrow, driver of the 200-horsepower Jay-Eye-Sue car which recently set new mile track records for five, ten and fifteen miles; Howard Wilcox, holder of the mile straightaway stock car record; Hughie Hughes, the English pilot, who won the Savannah Challenge race in 1911 and Len Zengel who won the 1911 Elgin national stock car race. Several drivers have not been named but it is reported that David Bruce Brown, winner of the 1911 Grand Prix race, will be named to drive one of the fast American cars in the race.

Despite the fact that between 50,000 and 60,000 persons saw the last contest it is said that the crowd this year will be even greater. The advance sale of seats indicates that the crowd from outside of Indianapolis will be fully fifty percent greater than before. More than forty special trains are to be run to Indianapolis from many faraway cities, and six motor club tours will be run to the Speedway, one of them coming from Denver.

MILITARY COMPANY LOSES TO MILTON

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, May 10.—Yesterday Milton college won an exciting game from St. John's Military Academy at held by the score of 4 to 3. Milton got a man around in the first inning by hits and fast base running. The score was tied in the third; but in the fourth, with men on second and third bases, Ernst drove a hot one over second base, scoring both. In both the sixth and the seventh innings, St. John's got one man across the plate, through costly errors by Milton. Maxon held the soldiers to three scattered hits, with none in the last three innings, and the game ended 4 to 3. Ernst's base throwing was a special feature.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE.

"Very, rightly, the executive committee of the University Alumni association have passed resolutions urging the regents to increase the salary of the president of the University of Wisconsin. The present salary is but $7,000, a ridiculous sum for the job. This institution, by educators in America and abroad alike, is acknowledged to be the greatest of all American commonwealth colleges. It is the model which other states accept as their pattern. State after state has sent here committees and educational boards to investigate our university, to see what we do and how we do it. They do not go to the University of Minnesota which pays its president $3,000 a year more than we pay ours. They do not go to the University of California which pays its president $5,000 a year more than we pay ours. Even Pennsylvania State college, almost lost in the apex of the Allegheny ridge, an inaccessible location as a college could well be, and which is seldom thought of when considering the great state colleges of America, pays its president more than the University of Wisconsin. The presidency of this university should be, and we believe is now, the biggest single educational job in America, and it should command a salary in keeping with the position. The regents should lose no time in properly adjusting this matter."—Madison Journal.

The Madison Journal is the mouthpiece of the state school and naturally favors anything that the university wants. It should be said, in justice to President Van Hise, that he is not a party to the increased salary movement, started by the Alumni Association. While it may be true that he is an underpaid official, it might be well for the promoters to remember that the university is just now under the ban, on account of reckless extravagance in spending the people's money.

The fact that the budget for the next two years calls for an increase of more than a million dollars, and that some of this money is for investment in farm land at $1,200 per acre has not been forgotten by the people.

The easiest money that a man ever spends is public money. The public crib is an open receptacle, easy of access, and the reckless spirit of a board of public servants is so apparent that taxes continue to climb to meet demands. "What's the difference?" seems to be the slogan adopted. "Out there in the state is the money. Go and get it." Is the order from headquarters, and it is being adopted and carried out in every department.

Wisconsin was long noted as a conservative, level-headed state, but the "microbe of reform" has so infected it that its old-time reputation is lost, and today it stands as the leader in every radical measure: exploited, "The men who have brought about this revolution are neither financiers nor business men. Cut admit from the public crib from which they have long subsisted, many of them would need a guardian to keep them out of debt. The "representative government" about which they howl so lustily, would be a farce, if they were obliged to finance it, and the taxpayers who are footing the bills, are rapidly discovering that "there is something rotten in Denmark."

The only good feature that has thus far come to light on the income tax is found in the fact that the farmer as well as the manufacturer and business man share alike in its beneficent features, and while the man at the desk wrestles with its complications, the tiller of the soil punctures the atmosphere with a few choice remarks, behind the barn.

Both men, in the meantime, are indulging in a little quiet meditation, and while they point with pride to the university and the forty commissions that are busily engaged in running the state, the suspicion is growing that the whole outfit is an expensive luxury. As a result of all this cogitation, something is liable to drop politically when the time comes.

The party of reform is the only organized political party in the state. It has run things with a high hand until the people have become weary. The hypnotic spell which has long possessed them has been broken by an overdone of reform and the income tax is the eye-opener.

The city stone crusher plant will be given its first opportunity to demonstrate whether it has any value as an asset. Under the management of the commission it will be economically and intelligently handled, and if it possesses any merit the people will have an opportunity to find it out. The streets have long suffered from the use of poor material and money has been extravagantly wasted in this direction. The commission has decided wisely in adopting all as a top dressing, for the sprinkling cart has long been a menace to any kind of a street.

For the first time in many years this country failed to produce enough potatoes in 1911 for home consumption, and many cargoes have been shipped in from foreign countries. The shortage is due to the fact that the army of producers is rapidly being depleted, while the army of consumers is steadily increasing. America has the soil in rich abundance, but lacks the tillers.

There are fifty men in the city, living on the shady side of life, with plenty of leisure at their command, who should be strolling over the golf grounds, those pleasant days, and there are many more in middle life, burning the candle at both ends, who can prolong their days by a little wholesome exercise of the same sort. It pays to take time to live.

The tobacco habit is under the ban of the Methodist general conference now in session at Minneapolis, and all preachers and agents of book concerns, now using the weed, will be obliged to quit, or seek some other occupation. The layman will continue to use their own discretion, and the market price is not likely to be affected.

Senator La Follette was detained in California for exceeding the speed limit with an auto, but when it was found that he was leaving the state, release quickly followed and he was told to travel as fast as he liked.

Widespread suffering continues in the flood districts of the South, and relief is sadly needed. The country at large does not seem to appreciate the situation.

"Play Back."

Oh, look at all the columns handling out the diamond news. And listen to the experts as they peddle out their views. Forget about the Congress and when Roosevelt will land.

The real folks soon are going to quit preliminaries and

"Play Back."

Oh, watch the fans out throwing old pop bottles at the mark.

To be in trim to lose them when they get out to the park.

Ice cream makers now rejoice and peanut vendors smile;

They know that they will surely hear in just a little while:

"Play Back!"

The office boy's grandmother is about to pass away.

The clerks will all be getting ill at 2 o'clock each day.

The very atmosphere is laden with the only game.

There seems to be no doubt at all that summer time has come.

"Play Back!"

The Real American Game.

"Ily lakcy; There are days, boys, when a man can't buy up a cent and this seems to be one of 'em, but I am going to stick this time, for five little old beans and have a look."

"Not for five, George, it's going to cost you about twice that. This is no place for children or suffragette husbands. Look out for me this time, I'm the little old prophet with the tin ear. If I help, it's the 'Gates Ajar' for you folks, so it is."

"Oh, I ain't got nothing much but a pair of backslivers," says the third. "But I guess your Uncle Dad will have to linger and see if he can't help out with the rent this month. I got you, Steve, and ten little seeds more. Hear me ring the bell. Oh, peaches and cream, here's a heavy villain I didn't know I had."

Chorus: "Gee Whiz, Hank! you know there's a ceiling in the room and you ain't allowed to crack the plaster. 'Faint fair to our host and besides, if you'd be reasonable we'd all stick around."

Host: "Never mind me, boys. You can stick them up as high as the Eiffel tower. I got a couple of dizzy little chorus girls that look good. Two bits for mine. Now I guess you'll all take a walk."

Last man: "You all must have got a regular Morpion Morgan collection for pictures, but I can't lay down four little Democrats. I had to frisk, the family sock before I left home so I can't go stronger than birdseed. I guess we'll all take a glance at the movie pictures. What' chu got for me?"

First man: "I won't handle you any baby talk on my mitt. I got 'em this time and I guess you'll have to make me the Carnegie medal. Bada, bada and Tossie, three beautiful little typewriters."

Second man: "Honest, George you're funnier than Johnnie Ray. Why don't you stay out until you get something. I guess you'll all have to shove 'em over to your Uncle Dudley this time. Mine are all blue. Five of 'em. All little hearts with a point on one end and a dent on the other."

Third man: "I'm on my way to Reno, Goodnight, nurse."

Host: "Say, you folks don't think you're going to come here and lick up all my refreshments and smoke my cigars and get away with a pot like that, do you? Pay me, the little host this time, boys. Here's mine. Put on your smoked goggles and pipe 'em off. Three head ushers and a pair of messenger boys."

Chorus: "You're a—of a host. That's no sort of a way to treat your company. Do you want us to pay all your rent every month?"

Last man: "Hold on, there captain. Don't pull in the gang plank. I told you all that I had four little Democrats, but you wouldn't take the bunch. I play honest and those they are. Don't they look pretty and Reno, Goodnight, nurse."

LOCAL MAN NAMED VICE PRESIDENT

Fred N. Blakely of This City Elected Officer of Wisconsin Poster Advertising Association.

Fred N. Blakely of the Lower City
Bill Posting company, was elected vice-president of the Wisconsin Poster Advertising association at its annual meeting Wednesday at the Township House in Milwaukee. Members of the association were present from cities all over the state, and the session was one of the best the association has ever held. The election of Mr. Blakely is quite an honor, as he is one of the younger members of the association, and he had not expected to have his name suggested. The other officers of the association are L. A. Owen of La Crosse, president; and E. J. Kemp of Sheboygan, secretary and treasurer. Besides the bil-lposters, the convention was attended by collectors, and others with whom the members of the association have dealings.

The delegates were the guests of the Cream City Bill Posting company, and were entertained in the evening at one of the Milwaukee theatres.
The next convention will be held in Milwaukee, but Mr. Blakely will endeavor to have the 1914 convention brought to this city.

CLUB GAVE ANNUAL BANQUET LAST NIGHT

Men's Club of Edgerton Congregational Church Entertained in Delightful Manner.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, May 10.—Last night was held the annual banquet of the Men's club of the Congregational church in the church parlors. The event brought out the largest assembly of members and their ladies in the history of the club. Hon. L. E. Gottfried acted as toastmaster and L. E. Whitcomb made the address of welcome, which was responded to in behalf of the ladies by Mrs. Roy Hopkins.
Short addresses were also made by Rev. Dr. Patterson of Madison, and Rev. F. W. Schaeffer, the local pastor. The high school orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.
This came to a close the best and most pleasant annual banquet ever held in the city of Edgerton.

Sunday to be Mothers' Day.

Mrs. Lizzie Williams state patriotic instructor of the W. R. C. has issued the following proclamation:

As Governor McGovern has issued a proclamation requesting the citizens of Wisconsin to observe Mothers' day, Memorial day and Flag day, which has not heretofore been done by a governor, and whereas the Woman's Relief Corps has been honored by being mentioned by name in one of these proclamations, I therefore issue an appeal for the observance of Mothers' day, the second Sunday in May. Let not one of us forget to wear the white carnation, the flower which has been chosen as a fitting emblem because it is so lasting and white and fragrant and in every way symbolic of faithfulness and purity and love. If it is not possible to obtain the flower let us do some other flower or even a bit of white ribbon to show the world about us we haven't forgotten that mother is still near and dear to us. Let Mothers' day, the second Sunday in May, be memorial day, and spare no pains to secure sunshine and happiness in memory of mother.

HAND SEPARATOR AS CAUSE FOR CREAMERY'S CLOSING.

Concern in Town of Newark Has to Suspend Operations Owing to Lack of Patronage.

Lack of patronage arising from the increased use of hand cream separators by the farmers in the southwestern part of the county, is assigned as one of the causes for the closing of the Western Newark Creamery Company in the town of Newark. The officers of the company, Louis Bright of Oxfordville, president, and Orela Carpenter, a Brookfield banker who is a

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

MISS EVA STEVENS SERIOUSLY BURNED

Clothing Takes Fire Causing Serious
Burns on Body Which May Prove Fatal.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, May 10.—Yesterday afternoon at about 3:30 o'clock while Miss Eva Stevens was burning some old paper which she had removed from the walls of her kitchen, her clothing caught fire as she stood with her back to the fire and she did not discover the fact until the flames were coming up over her shoulders.
She ran into the house and Miss Collins who lives with her threw a rug over her, but could not extinguish the flames until her clothing was nearly all burned off and her entire person except her head and upper part of the chest was horribly burned.

She suffered extreme agony until the physician administered a sedative.
At last reports she was resting under the influence of the medicine.
A trained nurse from Janesville, arrived on the 6:00 o'clock train and all that kind friends can do is being done, but grave fears of fatal results are entertained.

handsome residence on Main street to Fred Brunell.

The city was gaily decorated yesterday in honor of the Knights of Pythias content, and nearly every hour brought fresh arrivals either by train or by automobile. It was midnight when they took their departure.

ONLY DAUGHTER IS SUDDENLY CALLED

Miss Hazel Campbell Passed Away at Home of Grandparents after Very Short Illness.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Wis., May 10.—Miss Hazel Campbell died suddenly at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Campbell, about half-past ten o'clock. Hazel Campbell was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. W. E.
Campbell and was born in this city and lived here until a few years ago when her parents moved to Madison.
She came down to Evansville Monday with her parents and others to celebrate her father's birthday at his parent's home. The rest of the party returned to Madison but she remained for the rest of the week. Wednesday she seemed in her usual health and was visiting around town and in the evening she played games with some friends who came in. After she retired she began to cough and her grandmother went to her room to see if she could do anything to relieve her. But the coughing continued through the night. In the morning, at her request, a telephone call was sent to her mother to come down, and soon after she grew more quiet and finally dropped to sleep. Mrs. Campbell arrived on the tenthirty train, and when she got to the house Mrs. Campbell, Sr., said to her: "Hazel is sleeping and I wouldn't speak to her, until she awakens for she didn't sleep any through the night." The mother went to the bed and discovered that it was the sleep that knows no waking.

While Miss Campbell has not had rugged health since her childhood, her death at this time was wholly unexpected, and was a very great shock to her family and friends. The funeral will be held from the home of her grandparents, where she died, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and interment will be made in Maple Hill cemetery.

THEO. A. CLARKE

Why We Can Do This.

In this day and age all big manufacturers, not only of pianos, but almost any article, no matter how well known, spend thousands of dollars each year to advertise their product. The Waltham Piano Co., when they moved into their new factory about a year ago, appropriated $25,000 for advertising purposes for the State of Wisconsin alone.

NOW! $4,710.00 of this big amount goes to us for use in advertising Waltham and Warfield Pianos in Janesville and vicinity. But rather than spending this amount in a long, drawn out campaign in newspapers, on bill boards and in paying big commissions to agents, canvassers and salesmen, we are GIVING IT DIRECT to the first 20 purchasers in amounts ranging from $90 to $210, according to the style piano you select. On a $300 piano the factory price would be $212.00, and the allowance, $90, which would only leave $122.00 for you to pay. On a piano of a better grade we give you a bigger allowance. All allowances deducted from the factory price the same as a cash payment. Take your time on the rest. Your credit is good here.

SANITARY CONDITIONS OF CITY NECESSARY

HAS GENUINE MONETARY VALUE TO ANY COMMUNITY SEEKING NEW CITIZENS.

REASONS ARE MANY

Mean Good Sewage, Clean Premises and Care in Keeping Garbage and Rubbish Near Dwelling Houses.

To the Editor:

Janesville has had its spring house-cleaning, or yard cleaning and much has been accomplished. City Health Officer Cunningham has been most earnest in seeking to awaken public sentiment for a sweet and clean city and in many cases he succeeded most admirably but alas there are some property owners who apparently do not care for the old motto "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" and persist in compelling their tenants to exist under sanitary conditions that would not be tolerated in many communities.

Apparently there is hope of obtaining a certain class of citizens into real decency. If you touch them up in the columns of the press or make laws relative to their business they shout in a loud voice, "We are being persecuted. Our inherent rights are being trampled upon," and the crusade subsides and conditions remain as in the past. Many of these same property owners are scrupulously clean in their own homes, as to the conditions that exist immediately around them. Are marked as good citizens and hold in high esteem.

However I wish you could have heard the tale that was told me about some conditions that exist in certain localities and which upon personal investigation I found even sordid than related. Then perhaps your opinion of the property owners would have changed considerably. If you do not believe me look along the river bank on the north side of the river and see what you see. There is an open house for you as to health of the city as a whole right in the business district. The other cases I refer to were in buildings, covered from the ordinary sight of man.

Right in this connection I would like to state that the campaign that is being waged throughout the state to prevent tuberculosis is a good grand thing that will benefit countless persons yet unborn if carried on in the right way. The citizens of Janesville are alive to the horrors of the "White Plague" and each Christmas respond liberally to the demand for funds but permit right here in Janesville most unsanitary conditions to exist apparently unable to cope with them by any legal redress.

Take for instance the sweeping of the brick pavements by the sweepers. The clouds of dust that are raised fly to the second story of buildings, onto the sidewalks, into the stores and if there is any breeze at all to far distant parts of the city. Next morning watch the clerks sweeping out their stores, sweeping the same dust back into the streets again, germ laden, filled with millions of tiny bacilli most poisonous to the human system, that do more to spread disease than do even immediate contact with the disease itself.

Why not have the streets thoroughly wet before the sweepers are used? Why not have the refuse gathered up at once instead of remaining in piles to be blown hither and yon? It would be an inexpensive matter to do this and one which would be a great convenience to the residents. In fact along the down town streets who are most seriously affected by the nuisance. This is merely a suggestion and doubtless has already been planned for by Councilman Milthorpe who is doing such excellent work in his special department.

But to return to the other sanitary conditions of the city. The ladies of the various clubs of the city, are much interested in this matter and would like to do something definite. They talk of perfecting an organization to look after it. In Waukesha last week the ladies took charge of the cleaning up days and they challenge the state to produce another city as clean as the Spring City when they finished their work.

I lived in Chicago when the experiment was made with having a woman street superintendent in one of the busiest downtown districts. It was watched with interest and results carefully noted. That it was a success so pronounced that it was shown by the fact that today many women have charge of sanitary conditions of Chicago districts. These interested ladies would work in conjunction and under the authority of the health officer, or Mayor and Council and work wonders. It is worth trying at any rate.

But let us talk of something different for a moment. Spring is here summer on the way. Why not think seriously of the band concert proposition? Why not consider the advisability of making a success of the Boy Scout movement by liberal subscriptions? Why not investigate that playground proposition and see what can be done for the younger generation in way of amusement and instruction? All of these will be money well spent and could easily be accomplished by the expenditure of but a few hundred dollars in the total, the price really of one touring car if you please.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

THE UNFORTUNATE MA-ROONS.

By A. W. MACY.

Several centuries ago the Spaniards brought a large number of African negroes to the island of Jamaica, as slaves. When the English took possession of the island, in 1655, these slaves, being deserted by their masters, fled to the mountains. Here they lived a fierce, wild life, and became in time a terrible scourge to the English settlers. It was a vexing problem what should be done about them, and all the time they were increasing in numbers. Finally, in 1738, an agreement was made with them by which they secured their independence, and they maintained it for 140 years. But the English at last determined to get rid of them altogether, and imported 100 bloodhounds for this purpose. Hunted down like wild animals and hemmed in on every side, they were forced to submit. Only about 600 escaped death, and these were transported from the burning climate of Jamaica to the bleak shores of Nova Scotia, where they soon perished miserably.

At The Theatre

"BEVERLY."

New York is inhabited by owls, in the opinion of Edith Berwyn of the "Beverly" company.
Edith Brown who plays Princess Yelise in "Beverly" at the Myers Theatre, Saturday, May 11, Mat. and evening, is a Kansas City girl, and says that she prefers her natal place to New York with all its four million inhabitants.

"New York is a fine city in many respects," said Miss Berwyn. "They have the tallest buildings, the largest hotels, and the greatest summer resorts, but I think the people must be owls, for they never seem to sleep, and the stranger within their gates has no chance to sleep either—at least I can't. I went on there in August to rehearse for 'Beverly' and secured a nice boarding place in the 40's, around the corner from the elevated. The first night I laid me down, a train would rattle by about every minute. I finally became used to that, and was about half asleep, when a man across the street started in to make derogatory observations about his wife's relatives, and the wife retorted with dishes and glassware. After the racket had lasted about half an hour, a policeman came along and quieted the disturbance, and then stood on the curbstone for ten minutes, and told the neighborhood what he thought of domestic broils. When he departed a quartette came down the street whistling glees and choruses, and it seemed to me they took half an hour to pass a given point. As soon as the song birds had faded away, a light started in the corner saloon, and they made enough noise for the battle of Gettysburg. After ages and ages, I finally went to sleep, and after a nap of fully fifteen minutes the milkman making the rounds woke me up again. We may not have any Metropolitan towers or 'Coney Island in Missouri, but at least you can sleep like a Christian, which is more than I can do in New York."

DINNER STORIES.

Mrs. J. G. Stokes said in a recent address in New York, apropos of certain dishonest financial methods: "They tell a story about a man of this type. It appears that, as he got out of his motor car one day, a thief snatched a silk handkerchief from the pocket of his saddle-bag over his coat."

"The millionaire grabbed the thief and looked around for a police officer. Then the thief, squaring in his group, said: 'Ah, let me go. Come on now, let me go. After all, boss, the only difference between you and me is that you're makin' your sixth or seventh million while I'm still workin' on my first.'"

Every summer John Fletcher, a Liberty grocer, and Frank Cockrell, a retired farmer, maintain a camp at the mouth of Shovel creek on the Missouri river, about fifteen miles below Kansas City and four miles south of Lacey, where they keep open house for their friends and entertain in lavish style.

Last summer they were entertaining among others, J. D. Taylor, a farmer of near Maunth, about sixty-five miles northwest of Alberta, Canada. The host and their guests were grouped around a small campfire, friendly and partaking of fried catfish with relish, when Taylor grabbed at his leg and arose to his feet with a howl that sounded like the scream of the Gutter.

"I'm agoner, boys," he groaned, as he hopped around on one leg, scraping the other powerfully with both hands and imploring some one between while to get a club and get busy. "There's a snake in my pants leg as big as my arm and it's squeezing and biting me to death."

Fletcher grabbed one side of the trouser leg in question and Cockrell the other and they ripped with right road will, but no snake appeared. When Taylor was sawn pants however, they took the remnant from his hands and closely worked with the interior was found the stringy remains of a small frog.

"And that's what imagination will do for you," said Taylor, as he limped up a box and climbed upon it.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS GIVE THEIR ANNUAL MAY DANCE.

More Than One Hundred and Fifty Couples at Party Given by Rock County Hello Girls.

CITY SEALER ASKED TO NOTE AMENDMENT

Superintendent of Weights and Measures Sends Letter and Copy of Amendment of Measures Act.

City sealer of weights and measures Frank M. Kennedy has received a letter from the state superintendent of weights and measures J. Q. Emory calling attention to the amendment to the weights and measures act passed at the special session of the legislature. Under the law as it stood before amendment it was unlawful to sell bottles of various kinds specified otherwise than by the quart, pint or half-pint dry measure and the use of any berry box other than those which interior capacity contained a quart, pint or half-pint dry measure, was absolutely prohibited with a penalty of a fine and the confiscation of the boxes and bottles.

Considerable protest was raised to this provision and Janesville dealers and growers of berries were no exception. The amendment is calculated to be fairer to all concerned at the same time safeguarding the public so that they will get just what they pay for. The attention of the city sealer as well as of the dealers is called to the provisions of the amendment. In regard to it Mr. Emory writes:

"Under the amendment, the sale of the berries of the kinds specified in the law in less than one bushel quantities are to be sold as before by the standard quart, pint or half-pint dry measure but (and this you will please note carefully) the use of containers of other capacities than the standard quart, pint or half-pint is permitted by the amendment to the law if those containers are branded or stamped in color different from that of the container in character at least one-half inch high to show the correct interior capacity thereof by fractional part of the standard quart or pint dry measure as the case may be. Thus, suppose the interior capacity of a box or measure is found to contain only 50 cubic inches which is 50-67 of a standard quart or in smaller figures practically 50 of a quart of 67.2 cubic inches. The box should therefore be marked '50 qt.' or '50-67 qt.' In letters at least one-half inch high. Note particularly that such boxes of berries are not to be sold as quarts or pints nor by the box but under the terms of the law are to be sold as '50 qt.' or such other fractional part of the quart as the facts are. This should be impressed upon the minds of the dealers and this law enforced. Berries may also be lawfully sold by net avoirdupois weight if in other than standard containers.

"The claim was strenuously urged that it was a practical impossibility to comply with the law before it was amended. No such claim can be made concerning the law as amended. That law can be complied with and it is your duty within your jurisdiction to see to it that the law is strictly obeyed. This matter should receive prompt and vigorous attention. The amendment to the law was published and took effect May 1. In the printed act herewith enclosed the amendments enacted are printed in Italics. The asterisks indicate where eliminations have been made from the previous statute.

"While I have dwelt especially on the question of the sale of berries as of paramount importance at the present time, your careful attention should be given to all of the amendments and to the entire act as thus amended."

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE PITCHER.

By Howard L. Hann.

The pitcher is a high-spirited contented fellow who is usually patted with self-esteem and $1 bills. He earns a living by posing as the human windlass and striking out somebody with the buson full.

Every successful pitcher has a wind-up that resembles a rat terrier with the duplex vertigo. It takes some pitchers so long to wind up that the batter becomes dizzy and can't hit anything but the innermost corner of the pitcher's head.

Some pitchers rely upon headwork, while others put their trust in a spring of perpetual and night-blooming hope. This latter class usually fade away about the third inning and back into the brush league, where there is plenty of company. The most discouraging moment in a pitcher's career is to have somebody who couldn't hit the water if he was thrown off a bridge connect up with a wild pitch and tie the score. There are times when the pitcher becomes light-headed and can't tell the plate from a swinging target. This is the reason why so many batters carry around deep, perpendicular dents in their front side. According to the government reports, the head of a pitcher who leads the league will assay only 4 per cent ivory, while the cranium of a twirler who throws three out curves in succession is the nearest approach to an elephant tusk this side of the African jungle. Every pitcher has a collection of curves which he lets go of with a plaintive and sepulchral grunt. The most deceptive curve is the spit ball, which never knows where it is going until it has removed a few hard-pine splinters from the batter's physique. Next to this is the fade-away, which staggers up to the plate in a trance and whistles for air at the crossing. Between findings the pitcher writes articles for the magazines and envisions the idea that the umpire is a low-down crook with a deep-seated criminal record. In the winter he indulges in some light occupation like uttering vacant omissions or driving a dray, in the meanwhile dressing like a butterfly of fashion.

Exercise Cures Physical Ills.

"Dromotherapy," just added by a French physician to the rapidly growing list of "cures," is a systematic running exercise, beginning with a slow pace and gradually increasing with the patient's training. The treatment, already tried upon about 200 patients with great success, is specially recommended for persons who are weak and invalids without having any organic disease.

Question Still Undecided.

Writers in magazines as to whether bating the question as to whether women are more responsible than men for the low tone of modern literature, not only as the writers of books, but as the readers. One writer suggests that novelists should be licensed and that they should give evidence of wholesomeness and purity of thought before the coveted privilege to publish could be obtained.

Be Sure of Your Baking

When you put a baking into the oven, are you always sure it will come out right? Are you sure it will be light and fluffy and tastily baked—or will it be a flat, soggy failure?

The whole thing hinges on the baking powder you use. So what's the use of taking chances in baking, when with you can always be sure that every baking will be successful? Failure simply means time lost, materials wasted and the whole baking to be done over—and yet you take that chance whenever you don't use Calumet. For Calumet alone is unfailing in good results—Calumet alone guarantees success. Use Calumet and be sure.

Then you can bake with more certainty of good results. The baking will be more uniformly raised—lighter—tastier—more wholesome, because the materials in Calumet are so perfectly adapted to all baking requirements and then so carefully proportioned that failures are almost impossible.

Calumet shows a great saving in price over "trust" brands—and is much more economical in use than cheap, "big-can" brands.

Received the Highest Award at the World's Pure Food Exposition.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, May 10, 1872.—A Telegraphic Hoax: The report that the Myers House block in Janesville was burning, which came by telegraph to Monroe, late on Monday evening, proved to be a hoax—the work of some careless student who thought of nothing else to do. We rejoice that it was a hoax.—Monroe Sentinel.

We learn that several persons along the line of the road to Monroe, were so much excited over the report of the burning of the Myers House that they came to Janesville to witness the conflagration. The boys in the telegraph office had their fun, but they stirred up considerable anxiety among our neighbors for the safety of our city.

Reunion: There will be a reunion of the members of the Congregational church at the church parlors this evening. Good music and other exercises will enliven the proceedings. Prof. Jones' blind orchestra and several singers from the Blind Institute will take part in the exercises of the evening.

Brief Items. An effort is being made to arrange a series of races at the Park Association course some time in July. We understand that a few keepers of saloons not considered first class, have resolved to petition the council for reduction of the license from $100 to $50.

The Board of Education made an examination of the school property of the city today and found that some

UNCLE WALT

The Post Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON

Granddaddy wore his whiskers till they hid his eyes; in that beard the robin used to build its nest. Granddaddy, in the springtime, sat upon a chair, granddaddy, with her scissors, pruned his flowing hair. That was in the golden time of long ago, COST OF when the waste of money LIVING meant a store of woes. That was in the happy, good old frugal times, when our sires far-sighted, salted down the dimes. Father seeks the barber when he's run to hair, stretches out in comfort in a padded chair; while the smiling artist through his lenses hews, energetic bootlaces decorates his shoes, and the manicurist monkey with his hand—all these vain proceedings cost to beat the band! Granddaddy saved and sweated all his days on earth; when he made a finish, how much was he worth? He had eighty acres—quite a farm, you say, and some hundred dollars safely tucked away. Father spends his money like a sound marine, such a dazzling spendthrift never yet was seen. Well he can afford to blow in coin with zest; he owns banks and buildings till you cannot rest. Where's the helpful moral of this tale of men? That it with a lantern—guess there isn't one!

The Wreck of the Titan

Not a monster or mite sulk under the English flag but whose record, even to forensic lights, is tabulated at Lloyd's for the inspection of prospective employers. Not a ship is cut away on any inhumanly count of the world during underwriters' business hours but what that mighty slugging cry announces the event at Lloyd's within thirty minutes.

One of the adjoining rooms is known as the chart room. Here can be found in perfect order and sequence, each on its roller, the newest charts of all nations, with a library of nautical literature describing to the last detail the harbors, lights, rocks, shoals and sailing directions of every coast line shown on the charts; the tracks of latest storms, the changes of ocean currents and the whereabouts of derelicts and icebergs. A member at Lloyd's requires in time a theoretical knowledge of the sea seldom exceeded by the men who navigate it.

Another apartment, the captain's room, is given over to joy and refreshment, and still another, the antechamber of the last, is the intelligence office, where anxious ones inquire for and are told the latest news of this or that overdue ship.

On the day when the assembled throng of underwriters and brokers had been thrown into an uproarious panic the elder's announcement that the great Titan was destroyed and the papers of Europe and America were leasing extra giving the meager details of the arrival at New York of one boat load of her people this office had been crowded with weeping women and worrying men, who would ask and remain to ask again for more news. And when it came a later cablegram—giving the story of the wreck and the names of the captain, first officer, boatswain, seven sailors and one lady passenger as those of the saved a feeble old gentleman had raised his voice in a quivering scream, high above the sobbing of women, and said:

"My daughter-in-law is safe, but where is my son, where is my son, and my grandchild?" Then he had hurried away, but was back again the next

"Read it, Meyer. Read it." And the next day, and the next, and on the tenth day of waiting and watching, he learned of another boat load of sailors and children arriving at Gibraltar, he shook his head slowly, muttering "George, George," and left the room. That night, after telegraphing the consul at Gibraltar of his coming, he crossed the channel.

In the first tumultuous riot of inquiry, when underwriters had climbed over desks and each other to bear again of the wreck of the Titan, one-the naiftest of all, a corpulent, bloated man with flashing black eyes—had broken away from the crowd and made his way to the captain's room, where, after a draft of brandy, he had seated himself heavily with a groan that came from his soul.

"Father Abraham," he muttered; "this will ruin me!" Others came in, some to drink, some to console, all to talk.

"It's hard, Meyer?" asked one.

"Ten thousand," he answered, gloomily.

"Serves you right," said another unkindly. "Have more baskets for your eyes. Know you'd bring up."

Though Mr. Meyer's eyes sparkled at this, he said nothing, but drank himself stupid and was arrested home by one of his clerks. From this on, neglecting his business, excepting to occasionally visit the bulletin board, he spent his time in the captain's room, drinking heavily and bemoaning his luck. On the tenth day he read with watery eyes, posted on the bulletin below the news of the arrival at Gibraltar of the second boat load of people, the following:

"Life buoy of Royal Age, London, picked up among wrecks in latitude 45.20, north longitude 54.31 west. Ship Arctic, Boston, Captain Brandt."

"Oh, mine good God!" he howled as he rushed toward the captain's room.

"Poor devil! Poor fool!" said one observer to another. "He covered the whole of the Royal Age and the biggest chunk of the Titan. It'll take his wife's diamonds to settle."

Three weeks later Mr. Meyer was aroused from a brooding lethargy by a crowd of shouting underwriters, who rushed into the captain's room, seized him by the shoulders and hurried him out and up to a bulletin.

"Read it, Meyer! Read it! What d'you think of it?" With some difficulty he read aloud, while they watched his face:

"John Rowland, sailor of the Titan, with child passenger, name unknown, on board Peerless, Bath, at Christiansand, Norway. Both dangerously ill. Rowland speaks of ship out in half night before loss of Titan."

"What do you make of it, Meyer?" Royal Age, isn't it?" asked one.

"Yes," vociferated another, "I've figured back. Only ship not reported lately. Overdue two months. Was spoken same day fifty miles east of that iceberg!"

"Sure thing," said others. "Nothing said about it in the captain's statement. Looks queer."

"Well, what of it?" said Mr. Meyer painfully and stupidly. "There is a collision clause in the Titan's policy. I merely buy the money to der steamship company instead of to der Royal Age people."

"But why did the captain conceal it?" they shouted at him. "What's his object—insured against collision suits?"

"Der looks of it, perhaps. Looks pad."

"Nonsense, Meyer! What's the matter with you? Which one of the lost tribes did you spring from? You're like none of your race—drinking yourself stupid like a good Christian. I've got a thousand on the Titan, and I'm to pay it I want to know why. You've got the heaviest risk and the brain to fight for it. You've got to do it. Go home, straighten up and attend to this. We'll watch Rowland till you take hold. We're all caught."

They put him into a cab, took him to a Turkish bath and then home.

The next morning he was at his desk, clear eyed and clear headed, and for a few weeks was a busy, scheming man of business.

CHAPTER VI.

The Return of Rowland.

On a certain morning about two months after the announcement of the loss of the Titan Mr. Meyer sat at his desk in the room busily writing when the old gentleman who had bewailed the death of his son in the intelligence office tottered in and took a chair beside him.

"Good morning, Mr. Selfridge," he said, scarcely looking up. "I suppose you have come to see der insurance paid over. Der sixty days are up."

"Yes, yes, Mr. Meyer," said the old gentleman wearily. "Of course as merely a stockholder I can take no active part. But I am a member here and naturally a little anxious. All I had in the world, even to my son and grandchild, was in the Titan."

"It is very sad, Mr. Selfridge. You have my deepest sympathy. I believe you are der largest holder of Titan stock, about $100,000, is it not?"

"About that."

"I am der heaviest insurer. So Mr. Selfridge this battle will be largely between you and myself."

"Battle! Is there to be any difficulty?" asked Mr. Selfridge anxiously.

"Perhaps I do not know. Der underwriters and outside companies have lined matters in my hands and will not bay until I take der initiative. We must hear from one John Rowland, who, with a little child, was rescued from der berg and taken to Christiansand. He has been too sick to leave der ship which found him and is coming up der Thames in her this morning. I have a carriage at der dock and expect him at my office by noon. Dora is where we will dramatize this little pizness, not here."

"A child—saved?" queried the old gentleman. "Dora met it may be little Myra. She was not at Gibraltar with the others. I would not care—I would not care much about the money if she was safe. But my son, my only son, is gone, and Mr. Meyer I am a ruined man if this insurance is not paid."

"And I am a ruined man if it is," said Mr. Meyer, rising. "Will you come around to der office, Mr. Selfridge? I expect der attorney and Captain Bryce are down now." Mr. Selfridge arose and accompanied him to the street.

A rather meagerly furnished private office in Threadneedle street, partitioned off from a larger one bearing Mr. Meyer's name in the window, received the two men, one of whom, in the interests of good business, was soon to be impoverished. They had not waited a minute before Captain Bryce and Mr. Austen were announced and ushered in. Sleek, well fed and gentlemanly in manner, perfect types of the British naval officer, they bowed politely to Mr. Selfridge when Mr. Meyer introduced them as the captain and first officer of the Titan and seated themselves.

A few moments later brought a shrewd looking person whom Mr. Meyer addressed as the attorney for the steamship company, but did not introduce, for such are the amenities of the English system of caste.

"Now, then, gentlemen," said Mr. Meyer, "I believe we can proceed to pizness up to a certain point—perhaps further. Mr. Thompson, you have the affidavit of Captain Bryce?"

"I have," said the attorney, producing a document which Mr. Meyer glanced at and handed back.

"And in this statement, captain," he said, "you have sworn that der voyage was uneventful up to der moment of der wreck—that is," he added with an oily smile as he noticed the paling of the captain's face, "that nothing occurred to make der Titan less seaworthy or managable."

"That is what I swore to," said the captain with a little sigh.

"You are part owner, are you not, Captain Bryce?"

"I own five shares of the company's stock."

"I have examined der charter and der company book," said Mr. Meyer. "Each bond of der company is, so far as assessments and dividends are concerned, a separate company. I find you are listed as owning two sixty-second shares of der Titan stock. This makes you, under der law, part owner of der Titan and responsible as such."

"What do you mean, sir, by that word responsible?" said Captain Bryce quickly.

For answer Mr. Meyer elevated his black eyebrows, assumed an attitude of listening, looked at his watch and went to the door, which as he opened admitted the sound of carriage wheels.

"In here," he called to his clerks, then faced the captain.

"What do I mean, Captain Bryce?" he thundered. "I mean that you have concealed in your sworn statement all reference to der fact that you collided with and sunk the ship Royal Age on der night before der wreck of your own ship!"

"Who says so? How do you know it?" blustered the captain. "You have only that bulletin statement of the man Rowland, an irresponsible drunkard."

"The man was lifted aboard drunk at New York," broke in the first officer, "and remained in a condition of delirium tremens up to the shipwreck. We did not meet the Royal Age and are in no way responsible for her loss."

"Yes," added Captain Bryce, "and a man in that condition is liable to see anything. We listened to his ravings on the night of the wreck. He was on lookout—on the bridge. Mr. Austen, the boatswain, and myself were close to him."

"O God, I thank thee!"

Before Mr. Meyer's oily smile had indicated to the flustered captain that he had said too much the door opened and admitted Rowland, pale and weak, with empty left sleeve, leaning on the arm of a bronze bearded and manly looking giant who carried little Myra on the other shoulder and who said in the breezy tone of the quarter deck:

"Well, I've brought him half dead. But why couldn't you give me time to dock my ship? A mate can't do everything."

"And this is Captain Barry of der Peerless," said Mr. Meyer, taking his hand. "It is all right, my friend; you will not lose. And this is der little child, sit down, my friend. I congratulate you on your escape."

"Thank you," said Rowland weakly as he seated himself. "They cut my arm off at Christiansand, and I still live. That is my escape."

Captain Bryce and Mr. Austen, pale and motionless, stared hard at this man, in whose unmarked face, refined by suffering to the utmost spiritual softness of age, they hardly recognized the features of the troublesome sailor of the Titan. His clothing, though clean, was ragged and patched.

All-Run-Down and Generally Miserable

New Tonic Tona Vita in Use At Health Resorts For This Trouble.

If you are nervous and run-down with little vitality or ambition, and feel generally miserable and half-sick, you are suffering from nervous debility. If so you should investigate the new tonic "Tona Vita" and find out what a great record it has made since first introduced scarcely a year ago.

Do you know that "Tona Vita" is now pronounced by hundreds of physicians as the most remarkable tonic known. Do you know that "Tona Vita" is used in high-class sanitariums and health resorts as a nerve food and tonic? Do you know that during the past year more than fifty thousand people have stated over their own signatures that "Tona Vita" has completely restored their health?

Mr. James L. Hickey, of 250 North Division Street, Buffalo, N. Y., the well known National League Umpire, is one of these. This is what he says: "The nature of my profession frequently necessitated irregularity in sleeping and eating and as a result I became a victim of nervous debility. I had had headaches and indigestion. My nerves trembled no longer, and I did not get sufficient rest from my sleep. I would become fatigued very easily and was almost prostrated by hot weather."

"I had tried other means to restore my normal condition when a friend suggested the tonic 'Tona Vita.' I took his advice and am glad of it. My appetite improved at once. My headaches became less frequent and have gradually disappeared and I am no longer nervous or depressed. My stomach is now in perfect condition. In fact, I am thoroughly rejuvenated."

We have an agent in every city who will refund the purchase price if "Tona Vita" fails to completely build you up.

KEY OF KNOWLEDGE LOST BY PHARISEES

Modern Application of Jesus' Words by Pastor Russell.

"Woe Unto You, Doctors of Divinity! Ye Have Taken Away the Key of Knowledge; Ye Entered Not In Yourselves, and Them That Were Entering Ye Hindered."

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 5.—The Academy of Music was crowded today to hear Pastor Russell's discourse on "The Lost Key of Knowledge." Talking like text from Luke xi, 52, he said:—

In the New Testament, the word key has a very different meaning from our general usage. It applied to those religious teachers of the Jews who made special professions of sanctity of heart and earnest desire to know God's will, as expressed in the Mosaic Law, and to teach the same to the people. The corresponding class of today are designated Doctors of Divinity. Our text, therefore, with this correction, reads, "Woe unto you, Doctors of Divinity, for ye have taken away the Key of Knowledge; ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering ye hindered." When the common people heard Jesus gladly they inquired, "Have any of the Scribes and Pharisees believed on Him? Have the Doctors of the Law endorsed Him?"

The Key of Knowledge Buried.

In our text Jesus charged the Jewish Doctors of Divinity with the responsibility of having taken away the Key of Knowledge, refusing to use it themselves to enter into the great appreciation of the blessings then due, and hiding it from the common people, who trusted them so implicitly. We charge that the same thing is true today. Not only were the Jewish people typical of spiritual Israel, and their fate typical of the Jewish or closing time of this age, but additionally, now as then, "God's people perish for lack of knowledge."—Hosea iv, d.

It is this matter of misleading the people, deceiving them, that constituted the basis of Jesus' charge against the Doctors of Divinity of old, and we believe that His judgment is very similar today respecting the Doctors of Divinity of Christendom—"Ye have taken away (ye have hidden) the Key of Knowledge; ye have not entered in yourselves, and them that were entering ye hindered."

Necessity for Knowledge.

Knowledge of God, the Bible declares, is indispensable for the attainment of the great prize of the life calling. Thus Jesus said, "This is life eternal, that they may know Thee, the only True God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent." (John xvii, 3.) We are not to understand this to signify that anyone who has merely been made acquainted with the fact that there is one Creator, and that Jesus is His Son, is on account of this knowledge to be granted everlasting life.

Our Lord's words do not refer to a knowledge about God, but to a knowledge of personal acquaintance with God and His Son. And such an intimate acquaintance is not obtained merely by an introduction, but by companionship; it signifies an intimacy of acquaintance, a familiarity.

Thus Jesus prayed for us, His followers, "Sanctify them through Thy Truth, Thy Word is Truth." Any who neglect the Divine Word will fall of the sanctifying power and thus fall of the acquaintance with God which alone guarantees everlasting life.

To those who have come under the sanctifying influence of His Word our Lord says today, as He said to His Jewish followers, eighteen centuries ago, "To you it is given to know the mystery of the Kingdom of God, but to all outside these things are spoken in parables and dark sayings, that hearing they might not understand, and seeing they might not perceive." The outsiders—the Doctors of Divinity—are not permitted the Key of Knowledge. "Even so, Father, for so it seemeth good in Thy sight."—Matthew xi, 25, 26.

What Constitutes the Key?

The Key of Knowledge consists of the faithful study of God's Word, with an honest purpose to know the things that are freely given unto us of God. This implies a consecration of heart, for none others would really desire that they might do the Divine will. And this implies also a faith in our Lord's promise that "he that doeth the will of My Father shall know of the doctrine." (John vii, 17.) It is this consecrated, conscientious Bible study that is lacking today—that is being discouraged today by the great teachers and Doctors of Divinity.

Everything calculated to help Bible study, to get rid of the darkness of the creeds and superstitions of the past, is opposed—but not openly. But, oh, what weeping of disappointment, and what a chagrin and gnashing of teeth will come shortly to the "false shepherds," to the Key-hiding Doctors of Divinity, when they find that with all their endeavors to bolster up shame and superstitions in which they themselves do not believe, the entire fabric of Church-faith will collapse, as the Scriptures predict!

The Difference.

The difference between a demagogue and a patriot is that the demagogue frequently makes it pay.

(3.) Why is it, or not, natural for us to love our enemies?

(4.) If being desirous of loving our enemies and we do not succeed, what means should we adopt to accomplish our desire?

(5.) Verses 29-30—Granted that it is the duty of all of us to love our enemies, is it also our duty under all circumstances when we have been unjust on one cheek to turn the other also and if one steals our cloak to let him steal our coat also? Give your reasons.

(6.) If a man is not willing to turn the other cheek and give up his coat after having his cheek smitten, provided this was the will of God in any given circumstance, what would you say of such a man?

(7.) Why is it, or not, essential for a Christian to hold himself in readiness to do anything God may clearly command, no matter how unreasonable it may look to him? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(8.) Verses 31-34—Wherein ought a Christian to be better than a winner in his treatment of his fellows?

(9.) Is it easy or difficult, and why, for a truly good man to literally treat others as he would like to be treated?

(10.) When Christian men loan money does Christ mean that they should not be careful to be properly secured, or does he simply mean that there is no more merit in such a transaction than an ordinary lender would be entitled to?

(11.) Verses 35-36—Which is generally the better way to help those in need—to loan them money without security or to give it to them?

(12.) What is the reward or profit for loaning money without security to the needy with the sole object of helping them?

(13.) What is implied in being merciful as God is?

(14.) Verses 37-38—What does Jesus mean by judge not, condemn not and forgive, and what results follow such actions?

(15.) What right have we to expect if we give liberally of our money that God will cause our fellow men to give with superabundance to us?

(16.) Rom. xii:9-10—In what spirit should we give, rule and show mercy?

(17.) What relation has Christian love with right living?

(18.) To what extent does love make us prefer others to ourselves?

When Cards Came to England.

Card playing as a pastime was introduced into England early in the sixteenth century. In 1534 a law was passed in London forbidding the importation of playing cards. It became a fashionable court amusement in the reign of Henry VII. Whilst, in its present stage, was not played until about 1760. Some famous games were played shortly after that time in the Crown Coffee House in London.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Editor of the Gazette:

Although the agitation against the vaudeville and motion picture shows for keeping open Sundays has subsided for the present, in view of the great number of people opposed to the Sunday shows the city council may at any time yield to a little pressure and place in the city ordinance the former provision against Sunday opening. If the council can keep within the bounds of decency the church people may be willing to stretch a point and not make their natural objections, but if vulgar jokes are going to be allowed all respectable people of the city will soon be arrayed against the show houses and the commission will feel that it has sufficient public sentiment behind it to proceed to curb the performances as much as possible. It will be simple enough to amend the ordinance so as to forbid Sunday shows and it will be done as more people become disgusted with the unwholesome remarks offered in the attempts to be witty by "half-baked" comedians.

These distasteful efforts to entertain a mixed audience with vernacular more appropriate to the bar room are sometimes bad and sometimes worse. The rank joke which was sprung by one of the company holding the boards at a local vaudeville house the early part of the past week is probably a fair average. Being wholly unfit for entertaining an audience an amateurish comedian found the only way to carry a laugh was to tell an indecent story for the benefit of some of the male contingent of the crowd. While it may have been in place at a burlesque show it was quite out of the way before an audience of women, girls, and children, as well as before men. Self-respecting people resented the story and were probably influenced to avoid the place in the future. It was certainly degrading for any young people present.

If the theatres desire to draw upon them the approbrium of an increasing number of substantial people of the city no simpler way could be found than to offer such rank jokes as pretended humorous entertainment. These would not be allowed upon the stage of a house in a large city and yet the people of Janesville expecting a clean entertainment must run the chance of hearing them. Sunday shows may be tolerated if everything is wholesome, but otherwise public sentiment may demand some change.

The Perfect Laxative For Elderly People

Age has its attractions no less than youth in a more serene and quieter life. But it is this very life of rest without sufficient exercise that brings with it those disorders that arise from inactivity. Chief of these are a chronic, persistent constipation.

Most elderly people are troubled in this way, with accompanying symptoms of belching, drowsiness after eating, headache and general lassitude. Frequently there is difficulty of digesting even light food. Much mental trouble ensues, as it is hard to find a suitable remedy. First of all the advice may be given that elderly people should not use salts, cathartic pills or powders, waters or any of the more violent purgatives. What they need, women as well as men, is a mild laxative tonic, one that is pleasant to take and yet acts without griping.

The remedy that fills all these requirements, and has in addition tonic properties that strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin which thousands of elderly people use, to the exclusion of all other remedies. Trustworthy people like Miss M. H. Burling, Ripon, Wis., and J. P. Crider, Kimball, Minn., say they take it at regular intervals and in that way not only maintain general good health but that they have not in years felt as good as they do now. You will do well to always have a bottle of it in the house. It is good for all the family.

Anybody wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing The W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.
